

BYU to Offer More Masters

3 Engineering
Depts. to Give
M. S. Degrees

A master's degree program has been approved for the Civil, Electrical and Mechanical Engineering Science Departments of Brigham Young University, Pres. Ernest L. Wilkinson has announced.

A FIVE YEAR program is presently in effect for the bachelor's degree in engineering. The new master's program will require one or more additional years, according to Dr. Armin J. Hill, dean of the College of Physical and Engineering Sciences.

One reason for instituting the new M.S. degree is that graduates from the BYU five-year program found they were repeating many subjects at other schools where they were working for the advanced degree.

ACCORDING TO Dean Hill, BYU is one of a dozen "superior" schools in the United States which offers a five-year program for the bachelor's degree in engineering sciences. It is the only one in Utah.

BYU engineering students take liberal arts classes and also may take one year of mathematics beyond that possible in most four-year schools.

"THIS BROAD training, coupled with additional mathematics means that BYU students are more highly qualified for research and development professions as contrasted to building and operational types," Dean Hill reported.

He pointed out that the new master's program will provide additional opportunity in this direction because of the research requirements in the advanced degree. "Many students also will make the master's degree a stepping stone to a Ph.D. degree," he commented.

DEPARTMENTAL chairmen in the three areas affected by the new program are Dr. Dean K. Fuhrman, civil engineering science; Dr. Jens J. Jonsson, electrical engineering science; and Dr. John M. Simonsen, mechanical engineering science. The five-year bachelor's program is also offered in chemical and geological engineering sciences.

Because there is a need for engineering teachers, the BYU program will give emphasis to directing qualified students into advanced degrees with the ultimate aim of teaching, Dean Hill said.

This year 1948 students, or about 12 per cent of the student body, are enrolled in the College of Physical and Engineering Sciences. Nearly nine per cent of the student body are in engineering sciences.

Moss, Hill Win Presidencies

Small Turnout Elects Utahns To Leadership of AWS, AMS

Judy Moss and Walt Hill were triumphant in the race for Associated Women Students and Associated Men Students presidential posts.

Final voting Friday showed about 16.3 per cent of the student body casting ballots. There were 962 cast for AWS and 7 for AMS for a total of 1789, according to the Elections Committee.

Miss Moss received 735 votes to Rene Brookaby's 325. In AMS race Hill received 493, and Kent Harrison got 329.

In other AWS balloting Maralee McAllister won over Julie Gley with 492 votes to 463 votes to get the vice presidential. Judy Chapin, who was a write-in candidate in the primaries, secured the secretary post with 345 votes. Jane Weaver got 312, and Lou Van Dam got 312.

Joan Lillywhite walked away as the treasurer's job by receiving 890 votes, the most votes for one person in the election. Millie Walldogel received 312 votes.

In AMS voting, Gene Thorne, a student on the final ballot by receiving primary write-in votes, defeated Cordell Burnham with 312 votes to 288 votes. Bill Evans received 511 votes to top the secretary post. Hans Boet received 289 secretarial votes.

MISS MOSS is a Salt Lake City girl. She declared in her campaign statement that the purpose of AWS "should be to help U. women, individually and as a group, to improve academically, spiritually and socially."

She explained in her platform that this goal can be accomplished only by working directly and getting ideas from BYU men.

THE NEW AMS president, Walt Hill, is a junior physics major from Provo. He claimed, "My desire to integrate the campus men into more activities by organizing those who desire to participate."

He also said that he would like to see AMS plan more activities with men and then emphasized, "Set of all, I would desire that I would promote a brotherhood and fellowship here at the college which is unique in the world."

Judy Moss . . . Salt Lake City wins Walt Hill . . . emerges victor presidency of Women Students. In AMS presidential election.

Search for 'Belle of Y' Begins Today

The search for the Brigham Young University Belle of the Y, the "ideal woman," begins today.

Capabilities in five fields will be demonstrated by Belle of the Y contestants as they participate in contests during the week. The woman with the most points scored in the contests will win.

MONDAY'S ACTIVITY is cake-baking. The contest will be from noon to 6 p.m. in Smith Family Living Center. On Tuesday the women will be judged on beauty and personality. Dancing skills will be demonstrated on Wednesday at the mat dance, which is held in the multipurpose area of Smith Family Living Center. The mat dance will start at 4:30 p.m.

On Thursday the women will participate in a talent contest from 4:30 to 10 p.m. in Smith Family Living Center multipurpose area. The final area in which contestants may gain points is Friday's student body vote, a type of "popularity" indication.

THE BELLE OF THE Y and her two attendants will be named at Saturday's Belle of the Y dance, "Prosperine," in Smith Fieldhouse, Smith Ballroom and Smith Family Living Center. Tickets for the dance will be $1 a couple.

The entire week's activities and annual Belle contest are sponsored by Y Calceares and Intercollegiate Knights, honorary service units. All contests are open to the public except the beauty and personality judging on Tuesday.

Civil Rights Battle Rages in Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 — (UPI)—The Senate today began its election-year battle over civil rights.

Under an agreement reached last year, Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) was ready to start debate on the civil rights issue after the Senate disposed of tobacco and water pollution bills.

LITTLE ACTION on civil rights was expected in the opening day skirmish. Most observers felt it might take weeks to fight out the issue against a backdrop of presidential politics.

Because no civil rights bill is on the Senate calendar, Johnson may call up a minor House-approved bill—possible one commemorating the founding of land grant colleges—as a vehicle in which civil rights proposals could be attached.

BATTLELINES for the hot, drawn-out fight were formed over the weekend. Southerners served notice they would fight the civil rights proposals at every turn and Northerners stepped up their drive for new legislation.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.), a sponsor of the administration's civil rights measure, said he planned to toss still an other proposal—a tough anti-lynching bill—into the already bitter fray.

KEATING said his proposal would provide for a possible death penalty in lynching cases and set up "administrative as well as judicial remedies to protect voting rights."

New York's other Republican Senator, Jacob K. Javits, said he would try to expand President Eisenhower's proposal for court-appointed referees to assure Negro voting rights by combining it with a civil rights commission plan for setting up federal registrars.

JAVITS SAID that prospects for passage of a strong civil rights bill were the brightest in more than 80 years. He said civil rights probably is the No. 1 domestic issue in the nation.

Southern opponents marshaled their forces for a last ditch fight. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the Southern Bloc, said the effort to pass a civil rights bill had "the air of a political carnival or a Roman circus."

Council to Hold Sounding Board

Cougar Politics

by Jeddy LeVar

It is time to have a frank talk about the National Student Association. Why? Brigham Young University is affiliated with it, and the resolutions on national affairs before the ASBYU Senate (and those "in the air") are essentially the same ones adopted last summer by the NSA congress. (The Rhoton-Ferrel resolution supporting the BYU Board of Trustees is considered by this writer as a local issue out of the above-mentioned category.)

Below are some excerpts from an article read before the House on July 14, 1958. It was written by J. B. Matthews, an admitted former Communist who was chief investigator for the Dies Committee.

The United States National Student Association is a special target for Communist infiltration. The USNSA holds that a teacher should not be fired from his professorship in a college or university just because he is a member of the Communist Party. (This) organization chooses to ignore the fact that Communists use academic freedom, as they do all other freedoms, to the end that they may destroy freedom.

The USNSA is opposed to loyalty oaths which they describe significantly as political test oaths. This latter phrase presupposes that the Communist Party is a bona fide political organization and not a branch of international conspiracy. Whether through ignorance or deliberate intent... The USNSA takes the Communist Party at its own word.

The USNSA often claims to speak for a million students. These claims are merely the effects of bureaucratic intoxication—the vain imaginings of a small group of leftist students who occupy for a brief moment their little offices.

Full report of above statements can be found in 10 Cong. Rec. 101 at 13741, in the Grant Library.

Now the NSA has a tremendous influence on certain factions in the ASBYU Senate. Last summer the NSA congress encouraged federal aid and opposed loyalty oaths. This is the chief obstacle which the Ferrel-Rhoton resolution has met.

Factions following the NSA line have succeeded twice now to refer back to committee the resolution applauding the BYU board's stand against federal aid. Committee has been instructed twice to water down the wording which attacks federal aid and to attach a rider slamming loyalty oaths. So far the committee, composed of Dave Ferrel, Dale DeSpain, Duane Larsen, Doug Rhoton, Ron Robinson and Ralph Stewart, has refused to make the changes.

If the accusations made against NSA are true, will our affiliation with and support of the association some day prove embarrassing?

Philosopher's Meeting Topic Of Religion Talk

"World Philosophy in the Making: Report on Philosophic East-West Conference" will be the subject of Monday's Evening Lecture on religion series discussion.

DR. JENNINGS G. OLSON of the Philosophy and Anthropology Dept. at Weber College will speak at 7:30 p.m. in 187 McKay Bldg. in the final lecture of the series.

He will report on the third East-West Philosopher's Conference held during the summer of 1966 at the University of Hawaii. Dr. Olson was a member of the conference.

Dr. Olson, teacher in the Philosophy Dept. at the University of Utah for six years, is currently teaching Philosophy of Education and Recent Developments in Philosophy of Religion.

HE IS a graduate of Ogden High School, Weber College, University of Utah, where he received his bachelor's and master's degrees, and the University of California at Los Angeles, where he was awarded his doctorate. He has also studied at Yale University and the University of Hawaii.

Previously Foreign Students Club . . .

International Club Formed

The Foreign Students Club has been changed to the International Relations Club. Previously the club was comprised of all foreign students, who were automatically entered on the rolls of the club.

The Club was recently reorganized and a new name was given to it in order to include students from Canada and the United States.

The countries of the world have been divided into six divisions by the old club: Europe, Far East, Near East, Central America, South America and South Pacific. Each of these countries elected a person called a Geographical Unit Representative (GUR).

These people formed the governing body of the club. This year, with the hope of bringing closer together the students of all countries, the United States and Canada were added to the board.

Officers of the club are Erkki Käräinen, Finland, representative from Europe; Neville Ray, vice president, representative from Canada; Flora Rosendi, secretary, representative from Central America; William Chien, publicity, chairman, representative from the Far East.

Other Geographic Unit Representatives are Nasser Ghoush, Egypt, representing the Middle East and Kent Benson representing the United States. Representatives from Central America and the South Pacific have not yet been appointed.

The purpose of the club is to encourage a better understanding of the various cultures represented at the Brigham Young University through activities and cultural exchanges.

Frosh Rush Past USU Five, 85-65

With Ron Steinke, Bruce Burton, and Jim Kelson providing most of the scoring punch, BYU's frosh cagers rolled over the Utah State Ramblers, 85-65, in Saturday's preliminary.

THE MUCH improved Kittens gained sweet revenge for an earlier 72-70 loss to the Aggie frosh in Logan, as they broke the touted Ramblers' seven-game winning streak.

The Cougar yearlings early jumped to a 10-2 lead, then steadily built up the margin to the final 20 point difference. They led 38-27 at intermission.

FLASHY LITTLE guard Ron Steinke paced all scorers with 25 points. Forwards Jim Kelson and Bruce Burton followed closely with 22 apiece. Each of the three Kittens gained 10 field goals.

Reserve Gail Johnson, who replaced starting center Kirby McMaster, displayed a fine defensive and rebounding game. Johnson, who is comparatively short for a center at 6'4", made up for his lack of height with his tremendous jumping ability. He also contributed seven points.

The Kittens now have a 7-3 record while the Ramblers have a 7-2 mark.

Cougars Scare Erratic Ags, Drop 75-64 Thriller

Utah State's "Iron Men" showed sparks of greatness, but were never able to fan them into a fire, as the Aggies won over Brigham Young, 75-64 in Smith Fieldhouse Saturday.

THE COUGARS, seeking to write another page on their book of upsets, played on even terms with the Aggies for all but five minutes of the game.

Behind the early rebounding work of center Dave Eastis, the Cats forged quickly into the lead. The hosts enjoyed a 22-11 margin with 12 minutes gone in the first half before the Flyin' Farmer machine began to show signs of life.

A JUMP SHOT by Tyler Wilton together with an Ag free throw gave the visitors a slim lead at the 10-minute mark.

32:29 halftime lead. After the intermission the Cats jumped into a quick 39-35 lead before the Farmers began to find the range again.

Then the Utahs moved to a 32-21 point margin while the Cats could find the range for only two points in five minutes.

To all intents and purposes the game was over, but then disaster hit Cee Baker's five-man squad. Wilton, the lanky center, fouled out with 8:35 left in game.

THE EXIT of Wilton was a cue for the sleeping Cougars to come to life again. The Ags scored a 63-50 lead when the junior left on personals, but Cats cut it quickly to 63-52.

Then the usually fast break Farmers went into a ball-con game and brought on a rain of BYU souls as Mark Miller, Gary Earnest fouled out. Pat Max Perry who got 1 from the charity stripe the lead up to 63-52.

FERRY led the scoring. 25. Dave Eastis was high. BYU with 21. Miller had 18. Ron Abeggen had 10 for Cougars. All five starters double figures for USU.

Eastis led the rebounding the evening with 18. A real meat of defensive assignments that found Jerry Schofield, the Cougar center to four in second half, however.
